Are the fruits of the Spirit evident in your life?

Love . . . Do we love each other? Do we love those who are different from us? The Apostle Paul says, "Love is patient, love is kind . . . it is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered." (I Cor. 13:4 & 5)

Goodness . . . Peter tells us (II Peter 1:5) to support our faith with goodness, and goodness with knowledge. Our salvation is the result of God's goodness. Likewise, other persons should benefit as a result of our goodness. All that we do should clearly show our faith in God's goodness.

Peace . . . Is there peace between us, and peace within us? Can someone tell by being with us that we have a peaceful soul, based upon God as the source of all that we have?

Faithfulness . . . Is our steadfastness to Christ's church based upon an enduring loyalty that is true to God, no matter how we feel about the pastor, the district, the conference, the women's or men's groups, the organist, or any other facet of our church?

Gentleness . . . Do we exhibit care and protection for all of God's creation? Are we gentle with the environment, with each other, and with ourselves?

Joy . . . Do we look joyous to others? Do we feel joy inside? True joy in being a child of God should be able to override all unhappiness and bitterness we feel, and should be reflected in our total involvement in our worship.

Kindness . . . This action word can be directed outwardly or inwardly. Do we show compassion and generosity to others and ourselves?

Patience . . . How many of us are willing to let others (and ourselves) come along at each one's own pace? How many of us can forgive seven times seventy?

Self-Control . . . This is one of the hardest, and may include all of the others. This requires an inner discipline only manageable with the grace of God's Spirit to sustain us in our trials. Do we constantly pray for help in this area, and constantly call on God to help us? If not, we should.

A question to ask ourselves: "Is God's Spirit evident in my life?"

Calvin
